The Vicar's Letter...

Dear friends,

Happy Christmas! I hope you are continuing to celebrate with great joy and gladness the season of Christmas as we give thanks for God's gift to us of himself as the Christ-child, God with us, Emmanuel. Throughout this season we continue to reflect upon the meaning of God coming amongst us with great humility, in the tiny child, born of a young unmarried woman, the child born to be King. Through all the 'nice' comfortable trappings of our Western approach to the Christmas season God speaks to the world simply and quietly, yet with a message that challenges many of the values of our present day individualistic, materialistic culture.

The Kildwick School Key Stage 2 Christmas Play was titled 'Topsy-Turvy Christmas'. The catchy title reminds us that we must not take the story we think we know so well for granted. The Christmas story is not just the story of another baby; this is story of radical action, of God coming to us in a unique, astoshing, revolutionary way. To us God's ways can seem foolish, but we must not be fooled. Instead we must listen and hear what God is saying to the world – "There is another way; the way of love, joy and peace; the way of mercy and forgiveness; the way of justice and right-eousness". God's ways are not our ways.

As we move into a new year we understandably take time to reflect on the year that has ended. What will 2003 be remembered for? For many the hero will be Johnny Wilkinson who, with his fellow England rugby players, gave this country its first World Cup trophy for almost 40 years. There will be other heroes of course, as there will also be the villains.

Much of the year's news was, not surprisingly, dominated by the situation is Iraq. But there have been numerous other continuing conflicts around the world which we so easily lose sight of: the Congo, Zimbabwe, Uganda, Indonesia to name but a few. We live in a world that struggles to know how to live at peace with itself. God speaks to this world and says there is another way!

We are constantly shocked by the actions of our fellow human beings. We cannot begin to understand how one man can demand the slaughter of thousands of innocent people in Iraq; we cannot begin to imagine what leads one man to murder two young girls in Soham. There is evil in the world. And we can all fall short reflecting the loving face of God revealed to us in Jesus. Even you and I have to acknowledge the sin in our own lives and come to God in sorrow seeking his forgiveness.

The peace and humility of the child in the manger together with the love and forgiveness of the man on the cross speak not just to the world around us, but even to us, individuals created in the image of God.

Christmas, then, is not just a 'nice' story: the Gospel may have come quietly, wrapped in swaddling cloth, but it is not a passive Gospel. The message that God speaks to us demands a response and it should lead us to action. Each of us, in some appropriate way, is able to do something to make the Kingdom of God more of a reality. May we be enabled to look at ourselves, our friends and neighbours and all the people of the world with the compassion, love and gratitude with which God gives us in the life, death and resurrection of Jesus.

May the Christ-child continue to speak to you in power and simplicity this Christmastide and always. May you welcome him again into your heart and journey with him all the way to the Cross. Thanks be to God.

| "Yes, dear." Mother murmured happily.

"No wonder they put him out."

News from the Parochial Church Council

Last month we reported that there have been some important discussions in recent be conducting competitive interviews weeks about future building development plans. We are not able to bring you up to date with the situation

Most of you will be aware that several years of discussion between various interested parties plans were drawn up to a new disabled access to the side of the existing porch, the provision of a small kitchen and toilets in the south aisle and the removal of some pews to create an improved gathering space at the west end of the church. An application for a faculty was submitted last July.

On site meetings during the autumn with bodies such as the Council for the Care of Churches and the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings identified some concern about aspects of these plans. Consequently the PCC decided to withdraw this current faculty application.

This decision is not to be seen as a negaexciting new opportunity for the church to take a fresh look at the development of the needs. On the advice of the national bodies, including English Heritage, we are now nothing is not an option; together we must in touch with 5 architects, each of whom has experience of working with cathedrals and large Grade 1 parish churches, helping them with aspects of conservation and reordering. In the coming weeks we will which will lead to the appointment of one of these architects to work with us here at St Andrew's.

Our new architect will then help us through a period of consultation with the church and wider communities which will lead us to identify how best to meet our future needs. We need to discover how to achieve the provision of kitchen and toilets. improved spaces for gathering, for worship and other activities, also how to upgrade the heating, lighting and sound systems to 21st century standards.

In the coming weeks and months you can expect to hear much more about these developments. We will advertise the various meeting as widely as possible so that everyone who is interested has the opportunity to make comment. We will then need to prepare a major appeal to raise the money to enable to work to be done. tive move, but rather one that opens up an Through all this there is an important guestion to hang on to: what do we need to do at St Andrew's to ensure that the church building as a whole and consider its future building continues to be a vibrant centre of community for the 21st century? Doing discern the right way forward. We can and we will - with God's help.

AN INTRODUCTION TO LOCAL CHURCH HISTORY In this series of articles, Michael Baumber will be exploring some of the more Interesting aspects of our local history—church and community PART 4 n 1803 England was threatened with invasion by Napoleon. The regular army regiments were all rushed to the south coast and the gaps created were filled by a sort of territorial army of reservists. Kildwick was part of the area covered by the Craven Legion. The muster roll lists all the men in each township between 16 and 55 who were considered for training. The trade of each man is given so it is possible to gain a good picture of what the parish was like, though we do have to take into account the exemption of judges, infirm persons, clergymen, Quakers, medical men, those already serving m the armed forces, constables and peace officers. Some exempted actually volunteered. Rev. Thomas Marsdon. Vicar of Kildwick did. So did Thomas Wigalesworth, surgeon of Cononley, We also have to take into account that there would be adult males over 55 who were still in employment.

Silsden had become a fully independent parish in 1768 and will not be considered but the rest of the 1743 townships still belonged to Kildwick. Total listings in the roll range from 184 for Cowling to 39 for Kildwick. The dominant occupation is textiles. 72% of the adult males in Cowling were employed in the trade. Even in Kildwick 31 % give textile occupations. Five of the seven townships had large numbers of weavers and combers in normal ratios varying from 5: 1 to 8:1. Cowling curiously had the most weavers, 125 but no combers at all. Kildwick on the other hand had only three weavers lo six combers. The remaining three of its 12 in the textile trade were a wool sorter, a clothier and a woolstapler.

Of course this paints only a partial picture. Worsted cloth was still being produced under the domestic system and there would be as many as six or seven spinners to every weaver but they would be women. The distortion is made worse by the existence of new factories spinning cotton by water power in Steeton, Sutton and Cowling. The one at Cowling was built in 1791 on land belonging to then vicar of Kildwick, John Dehane. In such factories, the manufacturer, mill mechanic and overlookers would be men but all the other workers would be women and children.

For the rest there were the farmers but in all townships bar Steeton with Eastburn they outnumber labourers suggesting that most of them were small family concerns probably combining agriculture with weaving or combing. Every township lists at least one shoemaker. Five of the seven admit to millers and innkeepers. There are 16 servants. Sutton had a schoolmaster. The numbers of masons and joiners suggests only moderate building activity. Modern Crosshills was only just beginning to develop. The two shopkeepers, two blacksmiths, sawyer and cordwainer mentioned under Glusburn may have been there and the two innkeepers probably represent the White Bear and the Grouse.

News from Elizabeth Newport working in Sudan as a translator for the Wycliffe Bible translators.

Elizabeth also tells us that she (and col- old house was stripped of furniture on the leagues) has now managed to move as planned, to the house next door. This was a rather different experience from that which we might expect in Kildwick!

"last Thursday morning we locked all the gates to both properties and Obach, one of the guards, took a sledge hammer to the wall separating the two properties. Soon the bricks began to come away easily and we made a gap about six feet wide. Friends, both employees and folk who have been developing literacy materials in their languages, arrived to carry all our possessions from the old house into the new. I couldn't believe how hard and fast they worked. I controlled the removal of stuff form the old house and Leoma supervised its reception in the new. In the end, I had to stop the guys because Leoma got overwhelmed with the pace at which things were coming through. The Elizabeth says there may be a peace agreement signed 1 January (Independence Dav) and that Ezekiel Kondo was consecrated Archbishop of ago.

Thursday and on Friday most of the guys came back and started dismantling the house. We understood from the new owner that he planned to demolish the house and we had his permission to dismantle it. It was extremely hard work getting the doors and windows out but the real goal Sudan a fortnight | was the corrugated iron on the roof. Unfortunately, the new landowner's lawyer arrived on Friday afternoon and said we couldn't take anything. Well, too late as the guys had already got the doors and windows and some of the hardboard ceiling panels, so they had to content themselves with that. Leoma and I were totally physically exhausted for days afterwards."

Elizabeth will be home on 21st Dec. and in Skipton on 1st January. Please keep her and her work in your prayers

Week of Prayer for Christian Unity 18 – 25 January

Each year the worldwide Christian Church observes a special week of prayer for peace in the world and unity between Christians. Such a time of prayer was first proposed by Father Paul Wattson in 1907-8. He proposed 'an octave (8 days) of prayer for the reunion of Christendom from the feast of the Chair of St Peter at Rome to that of the Conversion of St Paul'. The idea was developed in the 1930s by Abbé Paul Couturier of Lyon who said, 'The spiritual horizon of the Week of Prayer for the Unity of Christians is not merely Christianity, it is the redemption of humankind'.

Within the Cross Hills & District Fellowship of Churches there will be the following opportunities to gather together for prayer during the week:

Monday 19 th	12 noon	Braidagarth, Baxter Wood, Cross Hills.
Host: Mary Clou	gh.
Tuesday 20 th	12 noon	31 The Hawthorns, Sutton-in-Craven.
Host: Ann Solbe
Wednesday 21 st		Brantthorpe House, Ryecroft Way, Glusburn.
Host: Glennis Attwood.
Thursday 22 nd		19 Main Street, Farnhill. Host: John Irons.
Friday 23 rd		Columbia, Newby Street, Cross Hills.
Host: Cyril Doult
Saturday 24 th	details to	be announced.

A leaflet giving a form of prayer to be used during the week will also be available in each church for those people unable to join one of the meetings detailed above. The theme for 2004 is 'My peace I give to you' and was chosen by the Christian Churches of the city of Aleppo in Syria. They chose this text because of the desire of peace in their fragile situation in the turbulent area of the Middle East, a place of conflict and tribulation. In doing so they express a longing for peace, which is more than the

Lent Course 2004 – New World, Old Faith

Lent begins next year with Ash Wednesday on 25th February. During the following six weeks a number of small groups will meet across the Cross Hills & District Fellowship of Churches to study, think and pray together.

The course chosen is titled is: New World, Old Faith. It is a tape based course with input from Archbishop Rowan Williams, David Coffey, Joel Edwards, the Revd Dr John Polkinghorne KBE FRS and Dr Pauline Webb.

The course will have 5 sessions: Brave New World?; Environment and Ethics; Church and Family in Crisis?; One World – Many Faiths; Spirituality and Superstition. Look out for more details of venues and times of groups in the coming weeks and make plans to join a group this Lent.

N ow is the time when many of us take a look back at the past twelve months and look forward to the coming year. At St Andrew's we have had a busy year and many happy times together. In our own personal lives we will be looking back at holidays spent with family during beautiful weather or attending a wedding or celebrating the birth of a new baby. For those who have been going through a bad time lately there is the hope that the new year will bring more happier times.

Isobel's Page

As we look back we will recall all the things we meant to do but never got round to. I can remember making a fleeting visit to Muker in Swaledale, to research something, in June and standing near the church, looking up towards Keld and beyond, I resolved to return soon and walk that lovely walk alongside the tumbling Swale and through the yellow carpeted meadows.

I never did! Then there's the cupboard under the stairs which needs sorting out and the hut which never did get creosoted this year.

Perhaps the first resolution we all should make would be to turn our intentions into deeds and how good it would be if everyone, the world over, resolved to be kinder to their fellow men and women.

The last few weeks have been an anxious time for us as a family but the kindness of so many has certainly helped. A cheery phone call at just the right time or the arrival of a letter or card has soon kindled the spark to regain the status quo and we thank everyone who has done just that.

'A little kindness can often go a long, long way.'

Glusburn and Cross Hills WI - December meeting

We all enjoyed the evening very much.

At our meeting on 2nd December Mrs Chris Abbott talked to us about her "Garden for All Seasons". She accompanied her talk with slides of her own garden, which she had designed and built up herself from nothing. It was truly wonderful and the garden had indeed colour, shape and contrast for every season.

Coming up in December we had our Christmas dinner on the 9th, the Cravendale Group Carol Service at Lothersdale on the 13th and the North Yorkshire West Federation Carol Service on the 16th.

Our next meeting is on Tuesday 6th January, 2004, when we shall have New Year Wine and Nibbles and perhaps some fun and games. New members are always welcome.

We seldom see spring daffodils poking out of the ground in mid-November but strange things are happening in our gardens that global warming does seem to be having an effect on the blooming season.

Gardeners are ever hopeful and now is the time to be planning for next summer. Colourful seed catalogues come dropping through the letterboxes. Or what about ordering plug plants if you have room to grow them on. There is a good variety in three sizes, plugs, ready plants or super plants, delivery from March onwards.

Winter jobs:

- ٠ Plant bare rooted roses and bushes when ground is suitable.
- Go on tiding borders and clearing leaves .
- Wash pots and containers ready for new season ٠
- Keep on feeding the birds and try and keep some fresh water available in • frosty weather. Look out for the B.T.O. Garden Bird Watch at the end of the month

Winter flowering shrubs are now coming into bloom -Witch Hazel, Mahonia, Jasmine, Viburnhams and there is brightly coloured bark on 5alix, Cornus, Prunus and Acers. While on the ground there are Snowdrops. Heathers and dwarf Iris. Plentv of colour to brighten the dark days.

From the Tirwomwe's in Uganda Christmas 2003

Dear friends

Family News

Margaret has been busy supervising the building our village house. It was ready by 17th October 2003. It was where we held the giveaway ceremony of our daughter Gloria. It is now finished but we are remaining with fixing in flush toilet and a shower and a rain tank, as we do not have running water. Margaret still has her constant abdominal pain and we request you to continue praying for her. Stephen is busy as usual but still smiling.

Samson is now working with Africa Evangelistic Enterprise (AEE). He is doing well. Gloria got married to Roland on 18lh October 2003 at St Peter's Cathedral, Kabale Fellowships have continued. by our diocesan bishop, Rt, Rev. George Katwesigye. We are just recovering from its exhaustion. Everything went very well. In fact, their wedding has been branded the wedding of the year in our town! However, all praise and glory go to God who enabled us to do it. Thank you so much for your pravers. For those who got our email and responded, we are really grateful for both prayers and material support. It needed a lot of money and we still have some debts to clear but we saw the hand of the Lord in it.

Solomon still works and lives with Simon in Leeds. He was not able to come to Uganda for Gloria's wedding due to financial constraints.

Simon is doing well at Halifax Bank in Leeds and he was able to come to Uganda for Gloria's wedding. It was good for Simon to come home because since 1997 he had not come back home.

Gladys is doing well at her Form 6 studies in Leeds. She also works with McDonalds. She still lives with Patricia and Geoff Cole in Osmondthorpe, Leeds. We are very grateful to them. She came to Uganda for • summer holidays. We had wonderful time with her. She needs your prayers. Thank you. Although Gladys missed Gloria's wedding, she was able to attend and be one of the maids on Gloria and Roland's introduction day 1st August 2003. This is the equivalent of the English engagement party.

Geraldine is all right and growing big. She does not look her age (14). However, she is doing very well in P6. We are happy with her performance because she loves her studies especially Maths. English and Science. She still struggles with Social Studies. She enjoyed being a maid for Gloria and Roland.

Mission Work in the Diocese of Kigezi

Quarterly and professional/ Civic Leaders We had Meetings with Brethren in 12 zones 9th and 16th August 2003 discussing the work and Unity Brethren. Uganda Encounter (CMS) Group visit was successful. The 10 young people had great impact wherever they visited. One comment (among many) about them from those they visited was "They share their testimonies in the same way as we Africans do." They were down to earth in their sharing with all ages. We thank them and their leaders Andrew and Sarah. We had a training course for trainers from Archdeaconries, Kabale Municipality churches and institutions We had 41 participants.

Planning for Kabale Convention 2005 has started with formation of committees. The department of Mission purchased a 7-sitter vehicle with the help of CMS Grant. We thank CMS especially our link parishes in England.

Future Plans

- There is a Christmas Mission starting on 22nd and ending on Christmas Day.
 - There will be Pre-convention missions, seminars and workshops for

A member of a certain church, who previously had been attending services each week, stopped going. After a few weeks, the minister decided to visit him. It was a chilly evening. The minister found the man at home alone. sitting before a blazing fire. Guessing the reflective silence. reason for his minister's visit, the man welcomed him, led him to a big chair near the fireplace and waited. The minis- cold, dead ember and placed it back in ter made himself comfortable but said nothing. In the grave silence, he contemplated the play of the flames around the burning logs.

After some minutes, the minister took the fire tongs, carefully picked up a brightly burning ember and placed it to one side of the hearth all alone. Then he sat back in his chair, still silent. The host watched all this in quiet fascination. As the one lone ember's flame diminished, there was a momentary glow and then its fire was no more. Soon it was
