The Vicar's Letter...

Dear friends,

September brings the summer and the holiday season to a close. Hopefully you have had the chance to stop a while during the last few weeks and enjoy some well-earned rest from the busyness of life. Holidays, or we might say 'holy days', are times to pause and reflect on life, where we have been and where we are going.

Holidays are times when many of us make journeys. But, in ake journeys all the time. In physical terms some may be very short, others are much longer. But each journey can also be a spiritual journey, a journey of faith in God, as we reflect on the world around us and our place within that world.

This process of reflection, of asking questions about ourselves and the world, is essential if we are to discover what it means to be fully human and be the person God is calling us to be. The journey must lead us to new understandings of ourselves and of God and his creation. It is both an exciting and challenging journey, but one that we must not shy away from.

It is also a journey that we cannot make alone. Yes, we are each a unique individual, but we have not been made to live in isolation from each other. We become fully human only when we recognise the call to live in community - in communion - with our fellow human beings of every race, colour, creed and language. We are called to listen to each other, to learn from each other and thus grow closer to each other.

Of course the process of working out our own place in society, in community is not always easy. Where do we fit in, what is our role and function? What is the particular role, or mission, of the Christian person and the Christian community?

As part of my summer reading I read a very helpful book titled The Subversive Manifesto: Lifting the lid on God's political agenda. It has challenged me to think more about how we are all called to engage in the politics (small 'p'!) of the world around us.

The author writes: "For many years there has been a debate about whether our mission as Christians is political or not. Some have seen it as nothing but political, trying to change society by more 'Christian laws'. Others have stripped our mission of all political meaning, advocating complete withdrawal and focusing on saving souls. Others still have tried to walk a 'third way' that marries the two perspectives – trying to make 'Christian' laws while converting people 'apart' form politics on the ground. I want to suggest that all of these approaches are inadequate. We are not called a 'third' or even a 'fourth' way. What we are called to follow in the 'whole way' – a path that draws no artificial division between evangelism and social action, or preaching the gospel and political involvement. The Bible doesn't draw these distinctions, so why should we?"

What is our calling as people of faith? If you want to think more about this you might think about joining the next Emmaus: The Way of Faith course beginning this autumn. This course, which explores the essentials of the Christian faith, is ideal for those who may just be enquiring about the faith or those who feel settled in the faith but are looking to 'refresh' their understanding of the faith.

May God bless you as you wrestle with the important questions of Robin

EMMAUS: THE WAY OF FAITH

The Emmaus Nurture Course is a 15-week course that explores: What Christians believe; How Christians grow; Living the Christian life.

Why attend this course?

For most people the journey of faith is a gradual discovery, a lifetime's exploration. The process of growing in faith affects our whole lives. There is no one point at which we can say 'we have arrived'. The potential to gain deeper understanding

Who is the course for?

The course is suitable for:

enquirers who are aware of their spiritual needs and want to find out what it means to be a Christian:

those who have recently joined Church but feel they have much to learn; those who have attended Church for a long time but want a 'refresher'; those who feel there must be more to the Christian faith than turning up for an hour on Sunday mornings;

those wishing to be Confirmed.

The Nurture Group will meet on Wednesday evenings (commencing 1st November) from 8.00pm to 9.30pm (or 7.30pm to 9.00pm).

QUIET SPACES – Wednesday 11th October

The next pair of Quiet Spaces will take place on Wednesday 11th October at Greenhowe, Park Road, Glusburn, beginning at

on Ship of Chur

Each Quiet Spaces will be a 3 hour period during which when people gather together to listen to a speaker and spend some time in reflection. After refreshments on arrival, each meeting will include two short talks following by periods of quiet of 45 minutes or an hour. The meeting will end with a short time of prayer together.

We would like to identify suitable venues for future Quiet Spaces which will have suitable spaces for: gathering for refreshments; gathering for the talks (could be the same of for refreshments); people to disperse to during the quiet periods (we will need to determine how many people can comfortably be present in available rooms). Whilst we hope that the weather will allow people to spend time outside we cannot assume this when we determine the numbers of possible attendees. We would hope to be able to accommodate a minimum of 5 plus the leader(s).

If you have a suitable home and would be willing to host a Quiet Space please contact Robin or David as above. It is intended to arrange the next pair of meetings in December.

Christian AID 2006

Christian TAid
We believe in life before death

The total collected this year was £444.77

Unfortunately this is down on last year's collection which was £545.02.

Many thanks to everybody who was able to help and you can be sure that every penny will go to help the world's poorest communities.

Below is part of a letter received from Glenis Attwood, treasurer of the local Christian Aid Committee.

Dear St Andrew's

I enclose the accounts and the receipts for the House to House/special events held for Christian Aid week. It is getting harder for most of the Churches to get helpers for the collection of envelopes and some of the Churches no longer deliver envelopes, The effort and time of all who worked to raise the needed money that has been sent to Christian Aid is much appreciated. The total raised is £712.30p, less than 2005, but with fewer envelopes being delivered the amount collected is well worth the effort.

The total amount sent for 2006 is
House to House collection
Other events
£4757.06
£4014.35
£742.71

Many people have helped the organisation collect further funds through Gift Aid. We should be encouraged by this excellent result, and the local Christian Aid committee would like to add their thanks to all the effort that has been given to help the work of Christian Aid, please continue to support it.

"Who is my neighbour?" asks a Jewish teacher of law, and was told the story of a Samaritan who was good.

"Who is my neighbour?" asks a Nottingham grocer, and is told the story of Martin Hazell and the people with Aids.

"Who is my neighbour?" asks an Indian lawyer, and is told the story of the people who Mother Teresa helped.

Merciful God, in whose harvest field there is always room for the needy to glean, widen the margins of our limited self-giving until they extend to the ends of the earth.

Forgive our selfishness and short-sighted greed that rapes the land and prostitutes its fruitfulness, stock-piling our harvest while the starving look to us for food.

Help us to recognize the need of our neighbours.

Forgive our complacency of our splendid isolation that sits lightly to suffering contained within a small screen, allowing us to ignore the need on our doorstep by a phoned response to a television appeal.

Help us to give more of ourselves to our neighbours, to recognize the need of our neighbours, to widen the scope off our mercy and care.

The Great North Run

Hi! My name is Esther Hudson, some of you may all ready know me through St Andrews Church, but for those of you who don't let me fill you in on a few details. I'm 20 years old and a second year student at Sheffield Hallam University, studying physiotherapy. As a physiotherapy student I have become increasingly aware of the vast number of people throughout the UK suffering from degenerative diseases, such rheumatoid arthritis osteoarthritis. It is as a result, and during a moment of complete insanity, that I decided to sign up for the Great North Run.

Yes, on the 1st of October, 2006 my flat mate, Kim Craggs, and I will be taking part in one of the world's most popular half marathons. This famous half marathon takes place around the wonderful city of Newcastle. Participants run from Newcastle-upon-Tyne to South Shields, completing approximately 13.1 miles. The first ever Great North Run took place on the 28 June 1981, when 12,000 runners participated. By 2003, the number of participants had risen to 47,000, and now twenty years on it has become one of the biggest running events in the world.

Kim and I have been training for this challenge since January. Yes, come wind, rain and snow, and more recently scorching hot sun, my flat mate and I can usually be found slumped over our garden gate attempting to stretch out our aching limbs after pounding the streets of Sheffield. But all this hard work isn't just an attempt to burn off all those famous student beans on toast meals. No indeed, I would like to take this opportunity to raise awareness of the charity I'm running for...ARC- Arthritis Research Campaign. Arthritis is a terrible disease, not only affecting the old, but also babies and children, most commonly females. There are over 200 different types of arthritis most commonly rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis. It is estimated that in the UK alone around eight million people have arthritis, and that one in three people will suffer with arthritis at some point in their lives.

This disease can affect all the joints of the body, most commonly the hips and knees, but no matter which joint it affects, the pain it causes can be extremely debilitating condition. Pain can range from a dull constant ache to a severe crippling pain, and many cases result in a total joint replacement. This charity is the only major organization in the UK funding research to investigate the cause and cure of arthritis and other rheumatic diseases, and therefore, I believe it deserves our support.

Therefore, if you would like to support this charity, you can do so by sponsoring me in my Great North Run

Sponsor forms can be found at the back of Kildwick Church, or alternatively you can sponsor me online at www.justgiving.com/sponsoresther, or contact me on 01535 633887

Saints and Such The Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary 8th September

In both eastern and western churches, Mary has always been held as pre-eminent among all the saints. The unique, extraordinary privilege of being the mother of the One who was both God and Man, makes her worthy of special honour. Thomas Aquinas believed she was due hyperdulia, or a veneration that exceeds that of other saints, but is at the same time infinitely below the adoration, or latria, due to God alone.

The gospels of Matthew and Luke give Mary most mention. Luke even tells the story of Jesus' infancy from Mary's point of view. Her Song, or Magnificat appears in Luke 1:46-55.

The virginal conception of Christ is clearly stated in the gospels. But after Jesus' birth, Mary fades quietly into the background. During Jesus' public life, she is mentioned only occasionally, as at the wedding at Cana. She reappears at the foot of the Cross (John's Gospel), and is given into John's care. In the early chapters of Acts, Mary is with the Apostles, and received the Holy Spirit along with them on Whitsunday. But her role was not the active one of teaching and preaching.

Mary's significance grew with the centuries. By the fifth century she was called Theotokos, The Mother of God, and from the seventh century onwards, she was given four festivals: the Presentation in the Temple (2 February), the Annunciation (25 March), the Assumption (15 August) and her Nativity (8 September).

Marian devotion has played an enormous role in the church down the years. Mary has been the object of countless prayers, accredited with performing many miracles, and the subject of thousands of artistic endeavours. She has had hundreds of chapels or parish churches named after her.

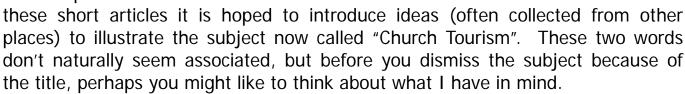

During the Reformation many images of Mary were destroyed. The Second Vatican Council 1962 made an extended statement on her, stressing her complete dependence on her Son, and regarding her as a model of the Church.

Principal Marian shrines of today include Lourdes (France), Fatima (Portugal), Walsingham (England), Loreto (Italy), Czesochowa (Poland) and Guadalupe (Mexico).

"Let these stones speak"

"Let these stones speak" is not an original title but is very apt for the subject to be outlined in a series of four articles in the Bridge. Anyone who likes to visit cathedrals and churches while on holiday will have noticed that many places of worship are trying to interpret aspects of their building and sacred space to meet the interests of visitors. In

At Saint Andrew's Church we certainly have an interesting building and several hundred years of home-grown sacred space. It has been in Kildwick since Saxon times because of its significant geographical position in the South Craven Dales. Today it also finds itself next to the Leeds to Liverpool canal and within easy visiting distance of a National Park. Holiday makers come here in their thousands and some, like me, enjoy worshipping in different churches and we welcome them to our services.

However, 70 - 73% of the public who enter a place of worship are not there in order to take part in a religious service and there are many reasons why they want to look inside the church.

Over the next few months I hope to put forward a list of the kinds of people who might pay us a call. You will think of others and perhaps that will develop into ideas about how different kinds of visitor could be helped to enjoy Saint Andrew's.

So why should we spend some time considering visitors who may only stay for half an hour and who we may never see again? Maybe the first thing to say is that we are custodians of the Church at Kildwick which is part of the world-wide Body of Christ. The building is as it is because of countless people witnessing to their faith and holding the place in trust for the next generation. Visitors have various reasons to dip into that sacred space where God may be found and we, as Christians, have a duty to provide as good an experience as possible since we do not know if we may be "entertaining angels unawares." This reaching out to visitors is a strong element of our plan to develop the building and in our essential task to makes the Christian message accessible to those outside the church but who look in from time to time.

It is hoped that as we explore what it means to "Let these stones speak", that we will be able to offer encouragement to people wanting to know what our congregation does in order to worship and encounter God and maybe they too will feel the warmth of His love before they leave.

Glusburn and Cross Hills - August meeeting

Our August meeting was held in the home of Alison Abbey. Sadly it was a damp evening, cancelling the plan to have the meeting in the garden. However, in Alison's lovely house we were treated to a wonderful supper, during which we were entertained by a talented young magician, followed by a quiz on musicals. We also had the opportunity to chat more than at the usual meetings. A very enjoyable evening.

Kildwick and Farnhill, July meeting

In July Sharon Brown, the Cardiac Rehabilitation Manager from Airdale hospital described the route taken by poeple with heart disease from their G.P. to Consultant, treatment and discharge. We learned that home-support depends on funding from PCT's (Primary Care Trusts) but Craven relies on overburdened Health Visitors who by their own addmission lack the necessary clinical expertise. Sharon brought lots of leaflets and led an in-depth discussion on how to care for and maintain a healthy heart. the teabreak was accompanied by healthy snacks! A most interesting and informative evening was enjoyed by all present.

Information from the National Federation included action being taken on the recent resolutions passed at the AGM and an update on current campaigns. Members were eager to sign the petition in support of Dairy Farmers and a letter was sent to the Prime Minister about farm milk prices.

Our meeting on August 10th will be a walk by the river at Cononley followed by supper at the New Inn.

September sees us back in the Parish Rooms when Keith Hebden visits at 7.30 on the 14th to tell about Bees and Beekeeping.

Cusic has been an inspiration and important to me since I can remember. When I'm driving in traffic I can be transported back to holidays spent in Scotland, amidst wonderful scenery, by listening to Celtic music – or, feeling a little down , I can pop the C. D of 'Messiah' on and listening to 'I know that my Redeemer liveth' or the 'Hallelujah' chorus, even thought I may shed a tear, the cleansing of the tears and the healing of the music, makes me feel better.

Music is a universal language and we all have varying tastes on what we like .In worship some may like traditional hymns from centuries gone by, others may be attuned to the more contemporary sounds of praise music or Christian rock.

This year at St Andrew's we have had concerts which have varied in style – from the beautiful strains of the ladies of 'Opus 44' and the gentlemen of Airedale Male Voice choir to something completely different –the music of the 'Blue Manhattan' jazz band and the talented violin playing of James O'Dwyer.

My friend sings with the Leeds Festival Chorus and recently, on a balmy summer's evening, I was fortunate to hear them sing in the magnificent surroundings of Ripon cathedral, with pieces, at times, accompanied, on that occasion, by a brass chamber ensemble - although the choir have worked with many different orchestras including Halle, BBC Philharmonic and Symphony to name but a few. Orchestral music is certainly a type of music I enjoy and , after the violin, the cello is my favourite instrument, and in July the haunting sound of the cello resounded round St Andrew's at another concert.

There is a story about the great cellist and director Mitslav Rostopovitch, who was exiled from Russia in the 1970s for his support of artistic freedom and particularly for his support of the author Aleksandr Soltsynetzin. After writing a letter of protest over Solsynetzin's house arrest and releasing it to the western press when he was on tour in Germany, he was exiled and resigned himself to being an alien in the West for what remained of his life. One night, whilst watching television, he saw people taking sledgehammers to the Berlin wall. Overcome with emotion he flew straight to Berlin and set up his cello amidst the rubble of the wall and played Bach as it crumbled around him. I bet there were plenty of tears there!

The story of how Soltsynetzin began to turn into a philosophically minded Christian is quite moving too.

When he was a prisoner in the Gulag, a terribly cold, dark and barren prison, he attended a Eucharist conducted entirely from memory by an Orthodox priest who had been imprisoned there for many years. Without vestments, bible, vessels or elements, the priest conducted the service with all the words and manual acts as if he was in the most grandest of cathedrals. Although nothing was held in his hands, he broke the bread and lifted an unseen chalice and knelt at an unseen altar. Soltsynetzin said he watched the tears of joy on the faces of those prisoners as they held out mutilated, scarred and grimy hands to receive what only faith could see and sip what only something deep inside could taste.

He said a miracle occurred on that day and what he experienced in that Eucharist was a changing point in his life.

Later this month we are holding a brass band concert and listening recently on the radio to the tune 'seventy six trombones led the big parade' brought to mind the film 'The Music Man'. Harold Hill, a masterful con artist goes to a staid mid- west American community with a scam using a boys' marching band. He loses his heart to Marian, a librarian, who, in return, falls in love with him after he befriends her brother, a shy and withdrawn boy. Marian recognises him for the fraud he is but when Harold realises that she knows all about him and his shady ways but loves him just the same, he realises that this is marvellous and sings to Marian the love song

'There were bells on a hill, but I never heard them ringing No, I never heard them ringing –' til there was you'

Perhaps in Professor Harold Hill we may see a little of ourselves and in Marian God's love and grace personified as she loves Harold –' warts and all', with all his short comings and sins.

Music can be used to inspire, console and support, as a means of devotion or praise and to express all those feelings which often lie too deeply buried for words.

Eve's arrival

At Sunday School they were teaching how God created everything, including human beings. Little Charles seemed especially intent when they told him how Eve was created out of one of Adam's ribs. Later in the week his mother noticed him lying down as though he were ill, and she said,

"Charles, what is the matter?"

Little Charles responded solemnly,

"I have pain in my side. I think I'm going to have a wife."

Jerusalem

A Sunday School teacher asked her class why Joseph and Mary took Jesus with them to Jerusalem. A small child replied: "They couldn't get a babysitter."

Commandment

A Sunday school teacher was discussing the Ten Commandments with her five and six year olds. After explaining the commandment to 'honor thy father and thy mother', she asked "Is there a commandment that teaches us how to treat our brothers and sisters?" Without missing a beat one little boy answered,

"Thou shalt not kill."

Letter from Reevy Hill School

The P C C decided that half the collection from the Lent boxes would be given to Reevy Hill School to enable them to go on a trip to Chester Zoo.. The money we sent paid for transport and the head teacher, staff and children of Year 4 are very grateful for the generosity of so many at St Andrew's.

They all enjoyed it very much and I was able to display, in church, letters written by the children describing their enjoyment of the trip and some photographs taken during the day.

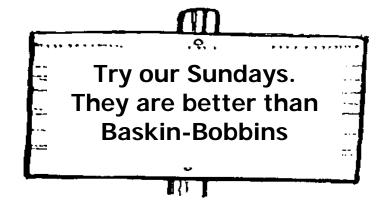

Quotes ,below, from the letters, leave us in no doubt that a wonderful time was had by everyone.

- 'Thank you very much for paying for the coach so we could go to Chester Zoo'
- 'We had a lovely time. I never thought I would see a lion or a tiger'.
- 'Thank you for sending us the money to go on the trip. My favourite animal was the elephant- do you know that an elephant's breakfast is the size of a family'
- 'Thank you for paying for our coach. I like a good trip now and then. I wish you could have come with us'
- 'Thank you for all you have gone through for us. Is there anything we can do for you?'
- 'We had a smashing time at Chester Zoo. I hope you may send money next year and then next year's Year 4 can have as good a time as we had. I wish you could have come with us it would have been a blast'
- 'The trip was really wicked the gift shop was wicked too.'

On behalf of Anne Plunkett, head teacher, Mr Rimmer class teacher and all Year 4 pupils at Reevy Hill School- Thank you very, very much.

September 29 Michael, Gabriel and Raphael ln the Bible, angels are messengers from God. The word 'angel' comes from the Greek word for a messenger and it appears hundreds of times in the Bible. But the only angels whose names we know are Michael, Gabriel and Raphael who are archangels, captains among the angels. Each of these three has a different task: Michael protects: Gabriel announces; Raphael guides.

In the New Testament, in the book of Revelation, Michael leads God's armies to final victory over the forces of evil and in the Old Testament he is in the book of Daniel, defending Israel against its enemies.

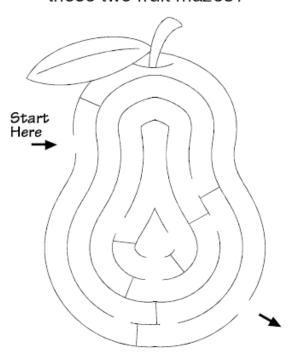

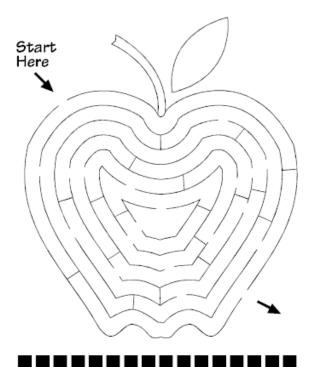

Gabriel is best known for his appearing to a young Jewish girl named Mary to tell her that she will give birth to Jesus.

Raphael is in the Old Testament story of Tobit where he guides Tobit's son Tobiah.

House Blessing

Have you ever blessed your house? If not, here is a prayer to help you on your way!

God bless the house from ground to stay, From beam to wall and all the way, From head to post, from ridge to clay, From balk to roof-tree let it lay, From found to top and every day God bless both fore and aft, I pray, Nor from the house God's blessing stray, From top to toe the blessing go.
